WE NOMINATE

Lester Vernon Chandler, a long-visioned economist and a dedicated Princetonian of some 16 years' standing, who — together with four other able and equally concerned Princetonians — has accepted the heavy responsibility of attempting to produce on painfully short notice a "merger plan" acceptable to the Boards of Education of Princeton Borough and Township. This 60-year old native of Kansas is the chairman of the so-called Merger Panel, or study group, brought into being to "search out the attitudes and concerns of both municipalities" and to explore separately with both Boards "areas of agreement" on which to base a proposal for merger.

Between now and the "target date," May 1st, when the Merger Panel is to submit its findings-and-or-recommendations, the "Chandler Committee" will be devoting dozens upon dozens of man-hours to its assignment — possibly the most important task, from the point of view of the long-haul, undertaken by any group of volunteer Princetonians in the past decade. Associated with Chandler are Edgar Alden Dunham, Princeton University's youthful Director of Admission; Simon Marcson, Director of Science and Technology Research at Rutgers; Robert Rae Spears Jr., Rector of Trinity Episcopal Church; and Stanley C. Smoyer, brilliant attorney, Johnson & Johnson officer and former Township Committeeman.

To these negotiations, comparable in degree of difficulty to what is now transpiring in Geneva, Paris and even Saigon, Chandler brings three decades of experience in higher education and long years as an officer of the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia and as a member of the Research Advisory Board for the Committee for Economic Development. Formerly Acting Director of the University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Chandler in the upcoming academic year will (for the third time in 12 years), assume the chairmanship of the Department of Economics, an "empire" with a teaching staff of some 45 members.

It was in 1950 that Chandler, a product of the University of Missouri and Yale, was called to Princeton as the first incumbent of the Gordon S. Rentschler Memorial Professorship, a "teaching professorship" designed to give undergraduates a "deeper and richer understanding of the problems and opportunities of human organization in a free society." His qualifications for this distinction, one of the few such professorships in this country, included brief teaching apprenticeships at Dartmouth and Princeton and 13 years as a member of the Department of Economics at Amherst College, where he had been advanced to a full professorship in 1942.

Widely sought as an economic adviser by governmental agencies and congressional subcommittees, and one of the most forceful proponents of the income tax proposals recently buried by a supine New Jersey Legislature, Chandler, a resigned member of Princeton Township's Planning Board, is a prolific writer in the field of economics. His publications during the post-World War II era have included the penetrating, and today highly pertinent, "Inflation in the United States," as well as "Introduction to Monetary Theory," "A Preface to Economics," "Economics of Money and Banking," "Central Banking and Economic Development," and "Benjamin Strong, Central Banker."

For possessing those qualities which prompted a colleague to describe him as a "supra-statesman;" for feeling that Borough and Township must continue to seek a "unified system throughout;" for his willingness to work for the well-being of the Princeton Community in the decades to come; he is our nominee as

WHOSE HOUSE?
School's Future Debated. A gentleman's disagreement has arisen over the United Fund's proposal, announced last month, to convert the old Witherspoon School building into a community-wide center. The Fund suggested that the old building be remodeled to house "a number of United Fund agencies, the Fund itself, the Council of Community Services, a teen-age drop-in lounge, a hobby center for all ages, Recreation Board offices, meeting rooms for agency board members and volunteers, and so on.

And, although the original survey suggested that the Princeton Nursery School expand from its present cramped space on Leigh Avenue into Dorothea House, Fund officials now believe that Witherspoon School with its ready-made playground, might be the best place to re-locate the toddlers.

However, Mayor Henry S. Patterson does not go along with these ideas. He believes that the school property should be used for apartments in strict accordance with the present zoning law.

Zoning regulations specify 30.5 apartment units (14.5 per acre) for that particular piece of property, and no more. Last year, when the Borough Board of Education had a possible buyer for the school property, the Board asked for a variance to allow 30 apartments. Residents of the area raised a vehement protest about density and reminded Borough officials that the neighborhood already holds the record for density in the Borough and said flatly that more would be too much.

Meeting of Minds. "I don't believe apartments, built according to the zoning requirements, would cause that much of a problem," says Mayor Patterson. "If you had a lot of Fund agencies located there with staff members and clients and volunteers coming and going, you'd have a lot more traffic than you would have with apartments."

The disagreement between the mayor and the fund came to light following a meeting last week in Borough Hall between Mayor Patterson, William Cook, executive director of the Fund, Bernard Barenholtz, Fund president, Bor-rough Councilman William Walker and Borough Administrator Robert Mooney. Fund officials would like the Borough to sell the Engineering building on Witherspoon and Green Streets and use the money to buy Witherspoon School from the Board of Education. The Engineering Building is on commercial land. Fund officials point out, and would like to see a plan for some commercial development.

More Than 900 Signed

The most unusual advertisement of its kind TOWN TOPICS has ever published appears this week on pages 24 and 25. Under the sponsorship of the Citizens for Borough Schools, an open letter is addressed to the Borough Board of Education urging continued action to effect K-12 merger with the Township. Some 30 men and women composed a concentrated hour-to-hour canvass, obtaining the signatures of more than 900 registered Borough voters in less than a week's time.

Commercial? Not Again! Mayor Patterson is on the other side of the street. "We are not interested in having that property turn into a residential," he explains. "There is a long-standing verbal and moral commitment to the John Witherspoon area that we won't let commercial development go any farther north — that we'll keep a kind of buffer."

"Besides," he adds, "a teen lounge in the Engineering Building would be used by a lot more teen-agers than a lounge in the old school. And Engineering parking space could be used by people going to the library across the street."

Mayor Patterson also thinks it might be unwise to have the "problem" agencies in a tight building on Quarry Street.

Would upper-income clients of Family Service be willing to go there for counseling? Would parents balk at taking a disturbed youngster to Child Guidance in a semi-public building where, in a small town, they would run the risk of meeting friends? Would Negroes see a possible stigma in having "problem" agencies in the John-Witherspoon area? To these objections, Mr. Barenholtz responds with a defense. The building would be a community center, not a clinic. People coming and going might be patients or clients, but he sure doesn't think they would be Girl Scout volunteers, Recreation Board staff members, or amateur photographers headed for the hobby center's dark-room.

Mayor Patterson also raises this question: would it be fair or even legal, for the Borough to allow such a community center a tax-free status when so many Fund agencies serve people from outside the municipality? This, of course, is a broad question that goes beyond the present dispute, touching as it does the current tax status of the YMCA building and the Child Guidance Center house on Nassau Street. There is still another turn in the corridor. The Fund's Special Plan on Buildings devoted a great deal of careful time and thought to the future of the Engineering Building, Dorothea House and the Witherspoon School before coming up with its proposal. But it never discussed the matter with Mayor Patterson or any other Borough official, until the survey had been completed and the proposal was a "fait accompli."

Next Step. What next? Fund officials have talked with representatives of the Borough School Board. The Board has had a nibble about the school from people who would like to buy it for nursing home, but the Board has said publicly that it would like to see a community use for the property.

Federal money from the new Grants for Neighborhood Facilities program of the Department of Housing and Urban Development could finance as much as two-thirds of the cost of buying the school and remodeling it (Fund survey estimates $175,000 for both).

Federal officials have told Mr. Barabach they would be happy to come to Princeton and look the school over, and this may be that "last step." But presumably it is the Borough government that would have to ask for the Federal money and that takes the question full circle back to Mayor Patterson.

"The Borough doesn't have enough information on the subject yet," Mayor Patterson says, "and we certainly haven't had time to weigh the matter. Mr. Walker, in fact, is the only Councilman who is informed about this at all."

The mayor has indicated he feels the proper solution may be to have the United States acquire the necessary land and put up a building of its own.

OPPOSING SCHOOL BOARD Ask "Yes" to Miller, The Italian-American Federation of Princeton has asked the Township School Board to consider its rejection of the Borough Board's "Miller Plan," and has stated its opposition to a Township High School.

"It is with regret and sadness that we have noted that the Township School Board has seen fit to arbitrarily reject the Miller Plan," the communication states. "Apparently the Board is determined to go ahead in a seemingly headstrong manner with the building of a separate Township High School regardless of cost and practical considerations, and without receiving approval of the voters for such actions."

The letter asks the Board, if it cannot accept the Miller proposals, to continue talks with the Borough Board "toward the development of some other mutually acceptable plan of school regionalization," and suggests that "modified regionalization will turn out to be the perfect plan for Princeton."

In its conclusion the letter states that "members of the Federation strongly oppose a new Township High School as long as any possibility of a Consolidated School System remains." The statement is signed by Anthony Pirone, president of the organization.

Following the school election in February, after the defeat of the Federation's write-in candidate, Township superintendent John J. McKenna and Board president George Grace wrote to the group inviting them to join in conversation aimed at clearing up misconceptions and building a base of mutual understanding.

Spokesmen for the Federation agreed, but so far, these conversations have not taken place.

Revelation Goes On So far, 325 homes and other buildings have been measured and culled by the Clementia company for Princeton Township's regionalization plan. A preliminary report shows everything on schedule, according to Township Committee member William Wilson who outlined the company's progress Monday night.

Committee met Monday, April 4, as the date for public hearing on assessments for sewer extensions on Cherry Hill and Kingston Roads and for the paving of Oakland Road, Faving and sidewalk assessments for Race Street will be held Monday, May 16.

Audubon Lane was accepted into the road system, and Committee passed a resolution reducing the performance bond to $2,000, which will serve as the maintenance bond.

MORE COPPER STOLEN

From Astro-Physics Site. Copper thieves paid a repeat visit during the weekend to the construction site of the Astro-Physics building which Princeton University is erecting near Palmer Station.

Taken were assorted lengths of tubing valued at $150 and a box of copper elbows worth $60 from the stock of M. J. Boyle, Inc., plumbing contractor. This was the second such theft reported by Borough police in two weeks.

The manager of the Singer Company store in the Princeton Shopping Center, Peter Catalano of Fairless Hills, Pa. Reported the theft Saturday afternoon of a six-inch, portable TV set from a showroom window. It was valued at $165.

University Police reported the theft of a two-section tape recorder last week from an entry of Holder Hall, University campus. The $600 recorder was the property of the University's radio station, WPRB.

The animated exhibit reproduces Jerusalem and the Palestinian countryside as they were some 2000 years ago. Included in the model buildings of the holy city are the temple, the palace of the Roman procurator, Herod's palace, the courtyard of Pilate and the Garden of Gethsemane. The Calvary scene changes as the narrative unfolds. The display directed by the Rev. 700 ATTEND FORUMS Stress Youth Officers. The three forums on teenage activities in Princeton have drawn an estimated 700 residents to Princeton High School on the past three Monday evenings.

About 200 were present this Monday when audience reaction of the four panels emphasized a willingness to support full-time juvenile officers in Princeton Borough and Township.

The present officers, P.H. Walter Emswiler of the Township and P.H. Ralph Proscaccino of the Borough, are assigned to juvenile work on a part-time basis. A police participant stated, "We teach the little children that we are their friends. We help them across the street. Then, we never see them again until they are in trouble." He stressed the need for the police to play a continuing, and friendly role in their lives.

Four panels drawn from Princeton's roster of psychiatrists, psychologists, druggists, youth leaders, state and local Kump Associates, in California, held forth at each of the three forums. Monday's roster included Dr. Shirley Van Pelt, Everett Campbell, Captain Gerald Dollar, P.H. Walter Emswiler, Rogers Carrington, Dr. Nathaniel Bosh, George Neely, P.H. Proscaccino, Mrs. Elizabeth Trimble of Family Service, Dr. William Combs, Morris Forer, Sgt. Fred Porter, Dr. Donald Clark, Dr. Willard Dalrymple, Henry deGeorge, Lt. Frank Maguire and Mrs. Ruth Lotz. Moderators were Raymond Male, Jack Rumlöwer, John Valentine and the Rev. Walter Wagoner.

The forums were sponsored by the Parents' Committee on Social Concerns, representatives of the PTA's of Princeton High, Princeton Day, Hun and Stuart Country Day Schools.

April temperatures continue to run well below normal, and neither the live Easter rabbits nor the chocolate kind seem to care. It's just the live kind of humans who'd like to see it warmer. Well, it won't be — not much, anyway. Cooler than usual right through Easter Sunday, and well on into April, the Man said, predicting that spring is definitely a little late this year.

Borough-Township school merger take place and the building might in the future serve as an intermediate school.

Long-range considerations have resulted in oversized classrooms for the new school, capable of subdivision to meet the need for smaller rooms for junior high school teaching.

The John Witherspoon School is expected to open early in May. The formal dedication will be held early in the fall.

"WAY OUT WEST"

For Stock Exchange. Getting out its map of the Far Southwest, the New York Stock Exchange has located West Windsor Township and communicated with its mayor, Malcolm Rouse. Mayor Rouse has received replies from various Exchange officials to letters he wrote outlining the advantages of West Windsor as a warm refuge from the cold winds of New York City taxation.

The jist of the replies is that, if the New York Stock Exchange decides to do that far from home it would be happy to consider West Windsor.

The Township's Committee has not acted on the matter, and Mayor Rouse wrote independently as mayor, not as spokesman for the Committee.

3 YOUTHS ARRESTED

In Service Station Robbery. Three Princeton area youths have been arrested by Borough police for entering Kline's Express station, 271 Nassau street, during the weekend and stealing $481.81.

Charged with breaking and entering and larceny are John T. Shambers, 19, 43 Maran Avenue, and John Brozek, 18, 13 Craven Lane, Lawrenceville. They have been released on $1000 bail and will appear later for a preliminary hearing before Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tans Jr.

Police identified the third youth as a 17-year-old juvenile from the Township. He was sent to the Mercer County Jail for referral to the Mercer County Juvenile Court.

The theft was reported at 5:30 Saturday morning by Warren Stevens, station manager. Police said entry was made through the men's room where the youths knocked a hole in the ceiling above the corridor. The money was taken from several canvas bags that were hidden, police said, in a storage room.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan announced that virtually all of the money has been recovered. The entire investigation and subsequent questioning were handled by Detective Russell Shumard and Ptl John J. Bellow. "The two officers did a fine job," said Chief McCrohan.

Township police are investigating the entry Monday morning between 12:15 and 2:24 of the Italian-American Sportsmen Club on Terhune Road. Fifteen dollars in petty cash was taken from a storage room located behind the bar and $10 to $12 in coins from a juke box.

Police said entry was gained by cutting a screen behind an unlitched window. Mrs. Louis Gabino, 33 Henry Avenue, reported the theft.

Music of Princeton

By Louis Snyder

In its second appearance this season last night at Kaufmann Concert Hall of the Y-M-W-V, the Princeton Chamber Orchestra, under Nicholas Harsanyi's leadership, impressed with its collective quality of beautiful sound, born of a happy co-ordination of dedicated individual virtuoso players.

The program offered an embarrassment of riches, since there were duo-quartet concertos by Haydn and Vivaldi played by the stunning duo of Irena and Alexander Lazogorsky, Hindemith's "Trauermusik" with violist Karen Tuttle as adept solo.

ist, and a colorful and integrating Sinfonia II for string orchestra and John Wauerman's flute, by the contemporary Swiss composer, Paul Muller, plus Haydn's Symphony No. 46 in B, which started the evening.

The Presti-Lazogorsky guitars, in both the Haydn and the Vivaldi, were nothing short of astonishing, with the Andante of the Vivaldi G major concerto revealing some new high in the persuasive synthesis of forgotten sound. Their particular dignity as performers was doubly impressive in this ideal setting for music of such personal charm and intimacy.

News Of The THEATRES

LAST PLAY OFFENS

In Repertory, Something fresh and happy has come to McCarter's spring repertory in the form of a rarely performed Irish play from the 1860's. It is "Arrah-na-Pogue" by the obscure Irish dramatist Dion Boucicault and it's an honest, open, happy-hearted evening of theater.

"Arrah-na-Pogue" is, of course, a 19th-century melodrama with all that description implies in the way of villainy thwarted and virtue triumphant. Arthur Lithgow has directed the play straightforwardly without posing fun, allowing the natural humor to shine through.

Our scene is set, as they used to say in the oppressed Ireland of British repressed patriots and rebel bards in the hills. Arrah is a spirited Irish lass, blooming and joyous on the morn'g after her wedding to the ardent Shaun the Post. She is called Arrah-na-Pogue — Arrah of the Kiss — because it was a kiss from her that saved the adored rebel, Beamside MacCoil. (How the kiss saved him is something you will discover for yourself.)

Villainy enters in the cringing form of Michael Fenny, who lusts after Arrah and is determined to break her spirit and bring her crawling to his side.

Well, there is Irish humor. Shaun even sings "The Wearing of the Green" although he knows that a man caught singing that traitorous song can be hanged — and Irish dancing and recited Irish poetry and it all ends with a happy tableau and a first class of hearty Irish kissing.

McCarter brings out almost the whole company, but the man you'll remember and take home is James Tripp as Fenny, the villain. Deliciously low and sinuous with his false grin and dirty whickers, he leaves a little trail of green slime wherever he walks. For a time there, you're afraid that maybe he'll win out, but would a good Irishman like Boucicault let an informer go free?

As Arrah, Anne Gee Byrd is pert in full short petticoats and green-laced stockings, loyal to the rebel MacCoil and to her beloved Shaun even if it means the British gallows.

It will unsettle you briefly to find the company's Falstaff, Clarence Felder, cast in the role of the romantic lover, Shaun. The part really requires someone tall, slim and dashing, but perhaps Arrah loves him for his big heart.

David Byrd is Beamside MacCoil, the rebel who hides in Arrah's barn, and he swish his dark and enveloping cape with true rebel élan.

His dearly beloved, a lady named Fanny with shyness and shaking affections, is Anne Murray. A comic actress, Anne Murray? After "Miss Julie"? Apparently so, because she is in line comic form.

She and Mr. Lithgow have decided to let Fanny the affectionate of articulated suffixes. Even in the heat of base-on-on, therefore, Fenny says "aff-see-on-on" and "con-al-see-on-on." An Irish lady, perhaps, imitating British inflections? A delightful little comedy device.

Of all the McCarter spring presentations, "Arrah" is the one we can recommend most unreservedly. It is honest and warm, entertaining and full of good fun. You have never seen it before and may never again, but you'll remember it's naive charm and its genuine evolution of a 19th-century time.

— Katharine Brettnell

is Lysistrata. Theme. Aristophanes' racy comedy, "Lysistrata" will be presented again this Friday and Saturday at the Murray Theatre by the Princeton Community Players.

An early version of the battle of the sexes updated here and there in dialogue, "Lysistrata" will be presented to an appreciative audience that nearly filled the theatre when Irena and Alexander Lazogorsky, as the heroine "lion of women," gives a spirited performance, calving the ladies of Greece to the cause of peace.

IT'S NEW To Us

IT'S TIME TO SUN
Sweep the Terrace. Brushing away the leaves from last fall's oak tree, we set out our new terrace furniture the other day and if it hadn't been for that cold spring breeze, we'd be sitting on the terrace still.
Rug Mart and Ivy Manor are the marla that provide. The stocks overlap a bit because both stores are part of the same family, but you should make a trip to both before you buy.

At Ivy Manor, Shopping Center, we find Lloyd's wrought iron line, festive with a daisy-chain arm rest and a whole spray of daisies for the back of a Jovest. Choose your vinyl fabric in happy florals and/or complementary solids—we like the sun yellow on the floor models, but the choice is as wide as your garden.

The upholstered armchair is $59.95, to give you an idea of price-range. There is also iron occasional chair with just a seat pad. The couch is like the upholstered chair and the Jovest is like the occasional chair.

Mesh-top coffee and end tables complete the picture. And there's a 2-deck wheeled serving cart.

Wrought iron with a more contemporary line is Ivy's set with couch, three-piece sofa, arms and a panel of mesh for the back. A pad seat gives you comfort. Chair is $23.95.

If you prefer the sturdiness of redwood, Ivy has that wonderful picnic table with benches and a round table with benches elegantly curved to fit. At the Rug Mart, there's a redwood chaise longue, too.

Umbrellas to fill in that round redwood table, among other places—are sprouting like mushrooms in the rain. They start at $19.95 at Ivy Manor, and some have heavy white fringes and others have thick black fringes, and some have a glorious underlining of blue flowers.

Casual chairs or chairs are available in a variety of fabrics on aluminum with walnut arms . . . plastic-coated cord that looks like wicker . . . stainless steel in pinks and oranges on a chaise pad.

A director's chair in deep redwood, white plastic with all kinds of canvas colors to suit your choice: olive and white stripes in olive plangham or yellow and white stripe, to list only a few.

The telescope line presents an aluminum folding chair with spaghetti tubing for webbing, if you'd rather) and low back chairs for the Fourth of July.

WHO'S GOT LONG EARS? And a Pink Nook. Not the three-pound rabbit at Sincerely Yours', that's certain. This dark and handsome fellow does indeed have the long ears or he wouldn't qualify, but his nose is deep milk chocolate and ro is his powder-puff tail. He stands 18 inches high, carries a load of jelly eggs, and coasts, all three pounds of him, $5.

Smaller colleagues weigh in, stand shorter and don't cost so much. The sassy chocolate duck, for example, is 12 inches tall, if he's a feather, and has a yellow, up-to-no-good eye, $1.99. The baby of the family is a 20-cent rabbit and his rooster friend.

Sincerely Yours—the store is at 195 Nassau at the head of Moore Street—has Easter novelties with empty middles for you to have filled. Here's a giant rooster obviously king of the barnyard, and here's a pert little hen. The rooster holds about two-pounds of eggs, in a charming reversal of biology. A burro and a lion each have baskets to fill with booty and a soft dog carries a basket in his mouth.

Fruit jelly beans, spicy jelly beans, licorice or caramel ones are pure jelly, translucent with goodness. Fill a six-inch basket with full-trapped eggs; it can be used later for dolly's laundry.

Candy coated chocolate-covered nut eggs in pastels are $1.29 a pound. You can have 76 small chocolate-lunies, little cream chicken perched on eggs are all soft and creamy in cherry, lemon

Easter? Now!

The biggest Easter basket we've ever seen is Sincerely Yours' mammoth for a big family. The candy shop makes up the basket to your custom with chocolate rabbits, bright foil eggs, chicks and maybe even a real live bunny, for all we know.

The basket is a real one, sturdy and hamper-like, stands about 22 inches high and measuring 22 inches across. It isn't FULL of Easter candy, we hasten to add, but you may have as much as you wish piled on top of the newspaper filling that starts at the bottom and works up.

Easter Monday, it's ready for the clean laundry.

or vanilla flavors, 2 for a quarter.

And a banana-flavored carrot, of all things! Feed that to your favorite rabbit.

TRIZILIAUM?

And a Waterfall. Our favorite spring bloom at Ambleside Gardens on Route 206 is the Waterfall Plant. You get everything except the proper land slope and a rock or two in this kit and baring a water shroud in July, you've got it made—the waterfall, that is.

For landlubbers, Ambleside will do the installation work of both waterfall and pool, or just the po' if you live on Flatland.

Incidentally, Ambleside loves to confer with customers and to discuss with you such esoterica as why the apple tree isn't blossoming, but they suggest that you visit the nursery on the weekdays with

The Train, seen here last June, concerns a little-known but true incident of World War II. It is a fascinating catsengers who try to prevent the retreating Germans from taking with them a trainload of museum treasures.

 The protagonists are Burt Lancaster as the French engiand Paul Scofield as the Ger-ends with an ironic question of values.

Serious gardeners in the family will find de Graaf's you can have bloom from June to August and as you know, these bills multiply and spread so luxuriously that in just a few seasons, you'll have a thick and opulent bou-quet.

Price range from three for $1 to $1.95 apiece (for the deep pink ones). Most are 40-50 cents. Right now, they are in bulk bins but Ambleside will put the bins and sell them

Incidentally, save money on trees and shrubs at Ambleside in the middle of the display room with a fire glow and welcome to you if the day is raw. Warm your hands be-

Two performances of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" abridged especially for children, will be given this Easter weekend by the McCarter repertory company. Tickets are available for two performances—Saturday at 2:30 and Easter Sunday at 3.

Directed by Jan Moerer, the cast includes Charlotte Clark, Anne Gae Ryd, James Tripp, Gregory Abels, David Byrd, Mario Siletti and Roby Halbrook.

are nostalgic for the type of hero-detective Humphrey Bogart used to excel, years ago will welcome this film.

Harper's assignment is to find a missing husband. There are blind alleys, brutal beatings and sudden deaths. The leads go from one eccentric character to another in a series of offbeat locales. Through it all is Harper's cynical humor.

Lauren Bacall is the aristocratic wife of the missing millionaire. Sexy Pamela Tiffin is her spoiled step-daughter and Robert Wagner is the missing man's pilot. Julie Harris is cast as a night club singer addicted to drugs and mysteriously mixed up in the crime. Shelley Winters and Janet Leigh are somehow mixed up in it, too.

THREE IN APRIL

Marcel, Seeger, Ellington. Marcel Marceau is the first of McCarter's April Specialists to check in at the stage-door.

The French pantomimist will appear on Friday, April 22, at 8:30, straight from a sold-out tour of North and South America. "Ballet out" is something new to M. Marceau, of course, and that's the sign they usually hang out at McCarter. As of now, however, tickets are still available.

The next night—Friday, April 22—Duke Ellington will make his very first Princeton appearance, the occasion being Princeton University's "Response" weekend program.

Pete Seeger, last of the April three, will perform at Alexander Hall on the University campus at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 30. It's his first Princeton appearance since 1962. Seeger's latest album is "God Bless the Grass."

YOUNG BEN IS NEXT

For Children. "Young Ben Franklin," with songs, dance and comedy, will come to McCarter on Tuesday, April 19, at 5:30 as the Children's Entertainment Series sponsored by the Borough P.T.A.

Ben Franklin, the famous statesman, narrates the story of Ben Franklin the boy, rising from poverty and obscurity to a multitude of fame and fortune.

"RUNNER" COMING

With Tom Courtenay, "Deceitful" will send you home both heart-broken and uplifted.

That was the critical judgment of young Tom Courtenay in "The Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner," the brilliant British film that will be shown at McCarter next Tuesday at 8 in the International Film Series.

Tony Richardson, who directed "Tom Jones," directed "Runner." The story tells about an 18-year-old slum bred boy who is sent to a reformatory. In spite of his contempt for authority, he becomes the school's top runner and the strongest bet to win in competition against a private school.

Parkside Drive were entered Sunday.
Approximately $800 worth of jewelry, including gold rings set with diamonds, and a starter's pistol were taken from the home of Benjamin Kohn, 34 Parkside.
Police said the entry occurred between 7:15 p.m. and 8 p.m. They believe the intruders were frightened off when
Mr. Kohn returned home at 8.
Sgt. Jack Petrone investigated.

A maid reported the entry at the home of Fred Fields, 25 Parkside.

Police said the entire home was ransacked with articles strewn all over, but they have been unable to determine as yet if anything was taken.
Three doors were found open when Ptl. Frank Buccanani, the investigating officer, arrived.

NEW DIRECTOR NAMED
For Nursing Home, Mrs.
Grace C. Fry has been appointed director of Merwick Princeton Hospital's nursing center for geriatric cases and the chronically ill. Mrs. Fry has directed the hospital's social service department since 1960.

Merwick formally called the Elvin Procter Matthews Unit, is located on a nine-acre estate off Bayard Lane. The home now accommodates 36 patients, and there is a waiting list of those wishing to enter the home. The list is expected to grow with the inauguration of the Medicare program.

Mrs. Fry came to Princeton in 1940. She has served as secretary to the building fund, to the hospital's pathologist and to the administrator. She has also been executive director of the Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross.

As University Lecturer.

A DISH OF RABBIT STEW: The way to keep an Easter rabbit from hopping around is to pop him into the pot, and that's just what they did at the Nassau Cooperative Nursery School. The four cooks are (left to right) Lori Tyler, David Settle, Bob Faulkner and Giel Zahredsky. That's not a stirring spoon in Rob's hand—it's a celery stalk. For flavor.

ton University.

nedy" will spend the fall term. Foreign Policy" is the theme in Princeton conducting a of the seminar, which will be conducted as part of the undergraduate program at the Woodrow Wilson School. Mr. Sorenson is presently associated with the New York firm of Paul, Weiss, Kirkland, Wharton and

BOTHERED BY CONSCIENCE
Youth Admits Theft.
A Princeton youth who entered and robbed Princeton Stationers, 66 Nassau Street, in February was able to escape detection but not his conscience.
John M. Provenzano, 19 42
Carnahan Place, is free on $500 bail awaiting a preliminary hearing Monday before Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr.
He was arrested earlier by police and charged with larceny, breaking and entering and larceny.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that young Provenzano admitted that it was he who entered the stationery store on February 21 and stole $75 from a box under the front counter, a .22 calibre pistol and a starter's pistol. He added that he was accompanied by a juvenile, the same youth arrested, this week for larceny.

The committee is planning a survey in Mercer County to determine how many students would benefit from vocational training and for what jobs training should be offered. The answers from questionnaires filled out by students will be collected by an IBM machine and considered by the department.

The following slate of officers will also be presented to the P.T.A. at the Wednesday meeting: Kenneth Schwartz, president; Mrs. George Fifield, first vice-president; Mrs. Hugh Chromster, second vice-president.

BIRDEN LIGHTENED
For President Cohen. The new office of Provost has been erected by Princeton University to relieve the president of the increasing burden of an expanding institution. The Provost will also serve in case the president is absent or disabled.

The new post will be filled by J. Douglas Brown, who has been Dean of the Faculty since 1946, and a member of the faculty since 1921.

On July 1, 1967, when Dean Brown reaches the statutory retirement age of 65, Professor William G. Bowen will become Provost. Dr. Bowen is Director of the Graduate Program of the Woodrow Wilson School.

Robert R. Palmer, who left Princeton in 1963 to become first Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Washington University, in St. Louis, will return to Princeton to succeed Dean Brown as Dean of the faculty. He will also join the history department.

The moves make a major change in the structure of the University's central administration. Harold H. Helm, chairman of the executive committee of the University's Board of Trustees said, in commenting on the changes: "This accentuates the ever-mounting responsibility of a university president much more than in the 1950s. He is a demanding, complex and over-whelming job in which he must find ways of sharing administrative overloads so that he may have time for the essential task of shaping educational policies."

The Provost, under the direction of the president, will attend to the overall academic development of the University and will co-ordinate matters of curriculum, staff and policy.

ARTISTS DELIVER
To Wine Tasting. Fourteen artists have contributed their wares for display and sale at the Wine Tasting to be held Saturday, April 16, from 5 to 8 p.m. for the benefit of the Princeton Chamber Orchestra.

The sketches, drawings and paintings will be at Princeton Day School, where the tasting will be held, and guests may buy them right off the walls. Tickets for the Tasting, at $6 each, are available from Mrs. Lisa Burgers, 270 Hamilton Avenue, 021-7917. Guests will have an opportunity to sample 12 white wines selected by a committee of Princeton connoisseurs.

Merger — Without Delay.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On February 8th the Borough electorate voted on three candidates who stood for Borough-Township school merger. These candidates, and the idea of full K-12 merger, won. That victory gave the Borough Board of Education a mandate for merger and a solid majority to work for.

In addition, the Township has rejected the compromise Miller Plan. Our choice, to be realistic, is now narrowed to K-12 or none. We ask the Borough Board of Education to work for a plan for effective merger, actively, determinedly and without delay.

Those who voted on February 8th and — you — did so in the firm belief that this was exactly what our voters meant. As soon as we have a chance to vote for such a plan, CBS confidently anticipates it will be accepted by a large majority.

The reasonableness of this fact is demonstrated by the fact that over 900 Borough voters have signed an open letter in the Borough School Board advocating complete reorganization of Borough and Township school systems.

For the Children's Sake.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The recent election of pro-merger candidates to the school board was not effected solely by a desire for merger on the part of a majority of borough voters. Recently I was reminded by a neighbor that although she is in favor of merger, she voted for the candidates she felt were best qualified for the demanding role of leadership in public education.

My neighbor spoke for me — and I think for most of us. That these winning candidates were strong advocates of merger of our public schools from kindergarten through twelfth grade may be an indication of their ability to put aside intransigent, prejudicial and unproductive attitudes in favor of continued high standards and improvements in the education of all Princeton public students.

I wonder if we elders have considered how our evident "we and they" attitude might affect the children.

And are we so unsure of democracy that many of us cannot simply disappear in order to set up for a merged school system?

It is possible there are deep-seated feelings against merger that these writers about and talked about.

I have felt sorry that the "old Princeton" is no more. These of us who arrived late cannot simply disappear in order to restore it.

It may be that the Borough will become the hole in the doughnut. And whether the hole loses the doughnut or the doughnut loses the hole, it is best the whole be kept as possible.

I am one of those who would like to be part of a Princeton not divided as it is now. I feel to see good reasons why at least the children's schools should not be unified as soon as possible.

MARIA J. HOLT

"Offer My Own Plan."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I sole with interest the new

(?) Miller Plan for achieving merger of the Princeton Township and Borough Schools. I would caution, however, against unseemly haste in adopting this plan. Who knows or can foretell what pitfalls and disasters may arise three or four years after this plan is put into effect if it is adopted without mature deliberation.

I suggest that when the joint committee studying the plan submits its report on May 1, 1966, that a new joint committee be appointed to study the report of the first joint committee. This New committee's report could then be studied by a new committee, etc., etc.

I now offer for consideration my own plan for merger which I call the Blumenfeld or "How to Merge the School Systems Without Ever Having To Do So" Plan. The Plan is simply itself and is based on the solidly grounded and well-established principle set down by the Supreme Court in school integration cases. This principle is, of course, the achievement of a desirable end "with all deliberate speed."

The details of the B or ITEMSSWEITDS Plan follow in outline form for maximum clarity and ready reference.

A. Both Boards of Education appoint a joint board to administer the 12th grade. The joint board consists of two members from each of the boards who then choose an impartial arbitrator as President from a list supplied by the American Arbitration Association.

This board has a minimum mandatory life of two years. At the end of this time the regular Boards of Education (who have been hovering in the background) appoint a joint committee to study the results. The study time is limited to one year. If the operation of the 12th grade is approved we then proceed to the next step.

B. Both Boards of Education appoint a joint board to administer the 11th grade. The joint board consists of two members from each of the boards who then choose an impartial arbitrator as President from a list supplied by the

C. — M. As in A and B. Thus, in a mere 39 years (less than a nano-second in recorded history) merger will have been achieved quickly and effectively — if all goes well.

I realize that we may run into a shortage of acceptable people to serve on the various boards and committees but this problem could be easily solved by halting all efforts to stop the population explosion.

If this Plan is not acceptable, and I concede it may be, why don't we just merge the two systems lock, stock and barrel under one Board of Education or, failing that, let Princeton Township proceed forthwith to build its own High School.

SPORTS In Princeton

BASEBALL, CREW ON TAP
Spring Season at hand, six baseball games in ten days and a three-race program with Rutgers in rowing Saturday are proof that spring is here, regardless of the Weather Man's near-total lack of cooperation.

For the first time in two decades, Princeton's crews will go to the stake boats on Carnegie without Dutch Schuch in charge. The veteran coach has relinquished his duties following a siege of heart trouble last summer, and Pete Sparhawk, one-time Cornell stroke, has replaced him.

For Sparhawk the opening regatta against Rutgers will provide an early measuring stick. Estimated to be about the equal of last year's shell, the Scarlet won here a year ago and a reversal of the result would be a welcome omen.

Only two members of the Tiger eight have had more than a year of varsity experience. The varsity race is set for 4:30 over the mile and three-quarter distance, with the freshman rowing at 3:50 and the Jayvets 20 minutes later.

KALL TEAM FALLS SHORT
Inconsistent in Florida, in a full week of action in the Rollins Tournament at Winter Park, Fla., Princeton's team failed to hit, field or pitch with consistency. Off to a better start because of the mild mid-March weather than they were a year ago when they won the tournament without first having practiced outside, the Tigers took third place with a 2-2-1 mark.

Rollins lost only to Maine in the double round-robin to compile a 2-1 record winning the event. Maine was 4-1-1 and the fourth entry, Rochester, 1-5, winning its only game at Princeton's expense.

Back at Clarke Field, the Tigers were scheduled to open their home season Wednesday against a strong Villanova nine. New Hampshire will be here this Thursday at 4, and Rider will come over from its Lawrenceville campus Saturday at 2, bent on revenge for the 4-3 defeat which Princeton inflicted on it last year to smother it out of a possible trip to College World Series in Omaha.

Manhattan is on the schedule next Tuesday and Seton Hall Thursday, both starting times at 4 o'clock. Princeton's first Eastern League game will be played the following Saturday against Cornell.

Pitching Doesn't Measure Up
The Tigers' three top pitchers each gave one good performance in Florida but also had unexpected trouble on other occasions — some of it traceable to sloppy fielding. Senior Tom Scott hurled fine ball in beating Maine, 2-1, in the opening round but later in the week was the only pitcher to be beaten by Rochester.

John Rednath, another senior defeated Rochester, 6-2, but lasted only two-thirds of an inning against Rollins. Graham Starrett was also beaten by Rollins, but batted well in the second game against the home team.

As anticipated, a week of tense further complicated life for the pitchers as Princeton scored only 15 runs in the half-dozen games. In the field, the Orange and Black impressed by playing its first two games without an error, then committed a total of nine in its next two.

Here and there, the team hit well, the extra base blows including several doubles, triples and a home run. But clutch hitting, steady fielding and consistent pitching all evaded the Tigers and until they appear at Clarke Field, so will victories at home.

JOHNS HOPKINS BEATEN

In Lacrosse, 7 to 1. Out in front early and almost invariably in charge, Princeton's lacrosse team recorded its first victory since 1963 over Johns Hopkins Saturday, 7 to 1. A chilled but highly appreciative crowd of close to 1,000 sat in on the activity at Campbell Field.

The visitors, beaten for the third time in as many games this season, were strictly subpar for a Hopkins team. Defensive difficulties plagued them throughout and they rarely sustained an attack, although they trailed by no more than 3-1 at the half.

In dominating the game, Coach Ferris Thomsen's operatives displayed good stick-handling, accurate passing and an improving defense. Much of the credit for the last score goes to Graeme Flinders, who gave an agile, occasionally spectacular performance in the goal.

Bob Mueller pored the Princeton scoring with two shots into the cage, the contest

Princeton close until three Tiger tallies broke it open in the final period, the Orange and Black faces Navy at Annapolis Saturday, with the strong naduphman favored.

TWO VOTES FOR THE PHILLIES: Both Richard Vonacka (left) and Robert James pick the Phillies to capture the National League championship. In the Yankee I think their choice is Minnesota. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Who do you think will finish first and second this year in the American and National Leagues?

Where asked: Around town.

Robert James, 2 Evelyn Place: In the American League, I'll go again with Minnesota. They've got speed and I think Olivia is being chased for a better year. The pitching staff looks pretty good, too. Eddie Stanky should bring Chicago in second, in the National League, I'll go with my Phillies again. They've gained some experience and they'll benefit from some good trades, especially Bill White and Dick Groat. I like the Dodgers for second place.

Richard Vonacka, 8 Evelyn Place: I'd say Minnesota — they came up well last year — and then Chicago. You certainly can't rate the Yankees anymore. In the National League, I'll give the Phillies another chance. They've been close the last couple of years. Dodgers second, I think it will take too long for Koufax and Drysdale to get into shape.

Jed Farace, 92 Brookstone Drive, PHIS freshman: I say in the National League it will be the Giants and their slugging. The Giants have Willie May.

The American League? Oh, boy! I say Minnesota and then the Yankee I think the Twins have a solid team.

Warren Appel, 91 Snowden Lane, PHIS freshman: In the American League it will be Chicago with Minnesota second. I think Chicago has fairly good pitchers and hitters and is the top team all-around. In the National League Cincinnati first and second will be the Giants. The Reds have Vada Pinson and have acquired a very good pitching staff.

Eddie Gibson, Lawrence Township, manager: Bill's Men's Shop, Witherspoon Street: In the American League, I'll give the Yankees a chance. The Twins and the Orioles, I think, will be a battle between the Yankees because they've added power in Frank Robinson. He's good for a 100 RBIs and 30 to 35 home runs every year. The National League: A loss-up! The Dodgers, the Giants, the Phillies — any one of the three can win it this year. In the National League, I'll give the Dodgers a drawing card, but as for giving them an edge, the Giants have always been a good stretch team and the Phillies have added a lot of power, especially in Mr. White. The Phils with Lind and Groat have good fielding, too. They have a fine club all around.

Nabaniel Sullivan, 5 Harris Road, employee Borough Engineering Department: In the American League, Minnesota first, Yankees second. Minnesota is a strong club, it's a young club, I think they'll have another good year. In the National League, the Giants and the Dodgers. The Giants have the best balanced team. They have the pitching and they have more power than the Dodgers. The Dodgers have Koufax and Drysdale but not much else.

Richard Cotes, Kendall Park, employee, Borough Engineering Department: The Yankees — I think they'll come back — and Minnesota second. The Yankees have the same old team and that old Yankee pride will make them all the more determined. In the National League, the Giants first. They're stronger. They have much more power than anyone else and they have a good pitching staff as well. The Dodgers second.

Eugene Sirochowski, 1902 Hill, employee, mechanic, Al Root service station: I'll take the White Sox in the American League. I think too many players on the Twins had a good year and I don't think they'll do it again. The Sox have had a good solid team for a long while. They've got good pitching. It's just that their pitchers had a bad year last year. Tigers second for the same reason, good pitching and a good catcher in Freehan, who also had a bad year last year. The Giants in the National League. One reason: Willie Mays! They're bound to win it some time. They came last year. The Dodgers second. It'll be a close race, though.

Bill Johnson, 52 Birch Avenue, employee, Al Root service station: I think the Yankees will be first in the American League. They were in a slump last year but I think they'll pull out of it. They'll struggle back to the top before the season is over. Minnesota second; they'll be up there but I don't think they can do it two years in a row. In the National League, the Dodgers, although Koufax and Drysdale are making so much money they may fall down on the job. The Giants will give them the hardest time.

Tom Brophy Jr., Kendall Park, Brophy's Shoes, Palmer Square: With the Sox that broke last week, I'll have to say the Yankees. They've got Koufax and Drysdale won 49 games between them last year, 23 by one run. Take away those 23 games and the Dodgers would have finished that much better. They probably should have too much pitching. Perked! They're going to get an awful lot of trouble this year from the top with Koufax and Drysdale. Pittsburgh, which has Clemente, Stargell and Clendenon — all capable of hitting things out of the ballpark — got a third, fast, two out of the three did — Clemente and Clendenon, if Pittsburgh gets a few breaks and their pitching staff comes around, they'll have a very fine outfit. The American League is tough. Ed Stanky is off to a good start but I'll have to pick Minnesota first and then the White Sox. I think the Sox will uphold their tradition of always being a bridesmaid but never the bride. They need one or two more power hitters. You can't win a championship when you have Pete Ward as your top home run hitter and when Ward hit only 12 last year.

Donald Miner, Yardville, cashier first class, Public Service: In the National League, I'm going out on a limb and pick the Atlanta Braves. Giants second. The Braves' pitching started to come on the last part of the year. That and their hitting adds up to a good combination. In the American League, I'll pick the more Orioles and Cleveland runner-up. Cleveland is going to surprise a lot of people. As they may fall down on the job for Baltimore. I've always rooted for them. I like the team in general. In my opinion they have all the ballplayers and all the pitchers they need. The one thing they've always needed has been hitting outfielders, even though I, personally, couldn't see them doing it. Pappas for Robinson.

Jim Cole, Perma Neck, steamfitter: I think Baltimore in the American League. They're really to be commended and they have a good manager in Hank Bauer. He knows how to handle men. White Sox second. With Koufax and Drysdale back, it gives the Dodgers the best pitching in the league, so 300. In fact, two out of the three should be a strong force. They'll also get top-notch pitching. Pappas for Robinson.

Sophomore Tom Yoder, pinch-hitting for Dave Bogie, singled for Princeton's second hit. He was forced home on a walk to McQuade after two Guel errors had loaded them up.

In the bottom of the third, Yoder, now pitching, singled again, sending Jack VanZandt to third. The threat died, however, when Rich Volk fanned and Nick Ryan grounded out on a close play to end it.

The starting lineup for the first game had Tom Wood at first; Jack Van Zandt, 2B; Bill McQuade, ss; Rich Volk, 3B; Dee Jueberg, if; Curt Mitchell, cf; Tim Hainp, rf; Tom Balestieri, c; and Chris Fischer, p. On the basis of his hitting, Yoder has earned himself a starting berth.

TRACKMEN IMPRESSIVE
In 82-83 season Vin The Princeton High School track team put off to a fast start Tuesday when it defeated visiting Steinet with surprising ease, 80 to 45. Highlights were a first place finish by Bart Bennett in the low and high hurdles and the broad jump for 15 points, and a PHS sweep of the javelin event. Both Juniors Keith Conover and Dan Tindall recorded 100 yard dashes of 19.0 and 18.4 feet. Craig Bechell was third.

Coach Jerry Groninger's reaction? "I was surprised," he said. "I don't know whether we're stronger or Steinet was a little weaker than I thought they would be."

Groninger added that the cold and wind combined to make the times a little slower and the distances a little less. "The boys tighten up to fight the cold," he said.

Jeff Bullock captured first in the 100-yard dash and second in the 220 and high jump for 14 points. Robert Way vaulted 14-6 to win that event and took second place honors in the broad jump for eight points, the same number captured by Carl DeCavalente. Carl won the shot with a toss of 50-8½ and placed second in the discus.

A new event — the two-mile run — has been added to the 13 other events and Pete Michaels won it for the Little Tigers in the fine time of 10:21.7. Groninger reported that it would be listed as the school record for the event. He said that it was a good time for a high school performer and added Michaels has the potential to lower his time to an even 10 minutes.

Dave Bloemay won the half mile with a 5:32-second effort. Although PHS did not win the high jump, the second and third place finishes by Bullock and Jim Greene drew praise from Groninger. "Both guys hit 5-8 and that's higher than we've been jumping the past few years," he commented.

PHS BLANKED 1-8
By Steinet, we get some hitting. . . . Princeton High baseball coach Harry Zoll held repeating at the start of the season. His concern gave every indication of becoming a reality Tuesday afternoon as the Little Tigers collected only two hits off Steinet pitching and were shutout, 1-0. In two games, PHS has a total of five hits.

Chris Fischer went all the way for the visiting Blue and White. His performance was much more solid than the one he gave in Friday's opener when he lasted only one inning. Against Steinet, he limited the Spartans to three hits, struck out one and walked three.

Princeton mounted a threat to tie it up in the sixth and final inning. Lou Bialestrier was hit by a pitch, stole second and advanced to third on a passed ball. Dave Bogia was sent in to run for him.

After Nick Ryan, pinch-hitting, fanned for the first out, Rich Volz attempted to squeeze Bogia home. The pitcher threw Volz out at first and Bogia, who had hesitated half way down, was doubled out at the plate.

Steinet scored its lone run in the sixth inning when Volz was unable to handle a ball hit by him at third, permitting a runner on third to score. Shortstop Bill McGuire backing up the play, couldn't get the ball over to first in time.

Volz and sophomore Tom Yoder were responsible for Princeton's two hits. Yoder, filling in for the injured Jack Van Zandt at second base, is now the leading hitter on the team with three hits in five at bats. On the debit side, eleven Little Tigers fanned. First baseman Tommy Wood was a victim three times in succession.

There was one bright spot in the generally murky play of the Blue and White: the beam committed only one error.

George Reikosky, Levittown, Pa., Coe Coles salesman for the Princeton area: The Dodgers — they've got the pitching with Koufax and Drysdale back. The Phillies second; they should do pretty good this year. Detroit in the American League. Wishful thinking, maybe, but I followed them all last year and I think they can do it. The Twins runner-up.

Tom Craig, Clarksville Road, student Darrow School, Pittsfield, Mass.: I think the Phils will take first in the National League. Each year it's almost theirs; they should win. The Dodgers win it every other year and this is their off year, and the Giants who, while they never seem to get any worse, never seem to get any better either, so they'll just stay where they are. The American League? I'm a little undecided. Probably the Yankees will be back up there again. Last year they were all fouled up — new manager, injuries . . . but they can't stay down in the second division all the time. Second place will probably be the Phils. They have a well balanced team.

There's a good answer!

No matter what the problem — or how vexing the situation — there's always a good answer. And it's basically spiritual. Often it depends on how we answer the question "Who Is Your Maker?" USE THE COLOR WHEEL IN PLANNING YOUR CARPET DECORATING.

It tells you instantly what colors go together best, suggests an unlimited number of possibilities. First of all, it shows you the kind of color — warm or cool. Exactly half of the colors are cool colors. These are quiet and relaxing. The various shades of blues and greens remind you of the warmest days. They are especially suitable for bedrooms with lots of windows. They make a small space and make a small room seem larger.

The other half of the color wheel is made up of warm colors. These are lively, exciting and friendly and are especially suitable for rooms which get little direct sunlight. They can be overpowering if used too profusely in a small space, but can do a great deal to make a large room seem cozier.

The so-called "neutrals" are the colors that go well with both warm and cool colors — the beiges, grays, black and white. There's a lot of difference between a beige with a hint of green. So you'll often choose neutrals for the same reasons that you choose the pronounced warm or cool colors — to suggest the mood of a room, or achieve a new feeling of space.

We'll talk more about color and carpeting in next week's column.

At E. Bahadurian & Son, with over many years experience in caring for rugs, we feel qualified to assist and help you in the selection of rugs and carpets for your home. We have the facilities to handle any carpet, floor, room-size or wall-to-wall.

Both our Oriental rug sales and service and domestic carpet sales and service are conducted by appointment only. This ensures that you are seen personally when you come to our showroom.
